Hear the train in the distance
Such a lonely sound it makes
When it's gone there is silence
You can hear the sound of my heart break

See these arms, now they're empty
'Cause they used to hold on to you
I said I'd never let go
But somehow you slipped on through

Now I know that's how love goes
When love goes away

I'm gonna cry some
Then I'm gonna lay here and die some
All because I know there ain't no one else
Baby, if I can't live with you
Guess I'll have to live with the lonesome

There's a prayer that I'm prayin'
There's a dream that I always will dream
And the hope keeps me waiting
For the day when you come back to me
It's a curse and a blessing
To find love above all the rest
Now I'd rather have nothing
Than to settle for less

Now I know that's how love goes
When love goes away

I'm gonna cry some
Then I'm gonna lay here and die some
All because I know there ain't no one else
Baby, if I can't live with you
Guess I'll have to live with the lonesome

Now I know that's how love goes
When love goes away

I'm gonna cry some
And I'm gonna lay here and die some

All because I know there ain't no one else
Baby, if I can't live with you
Guess I'll have to live with the lonesome

Live with the lonesome
