"Ghost"

Withdraw into your other world
I'm speaking but you do not hear a word
Glaze over colder than a make Frozen by your dispenses of late

It's clear, as glass, you smash
My operations melt before your eyes
My skull, is full, of dreams
And nothings as it seems in the black air under the trees

Do you even know that I'm here
I might aswell be a ghost
It's true you walk right through me
Look in the mirror and you, you see nothing but yourself
It's true I see right through you
It's true you walk right through me
It's true I see right through you

Blank pages surrounding your eyes
Overthrow the colours of your mind
Science has always been a lie
I can see you shiver in my fire
I'm falling like a snowflake
Catch me quick, before I dissappear
I'm fading like the sun
As soon as I'm gone everything will come undone

Do you even know that I'm here
I might aswell be a ghost
It's true you walk right through me
Look in the mirror and you, you see nothing but
It's true I see right through you

Even though that I'm here
I might aswell be a ghost
Its true you walk right through me
Look in the mirror and you, you see nothing but

It's true I see right through you
It's true you walk right through me
It's true I see right through you
It's true you look right through me
It's true I see right through you
It's true you walk right through me
It's true I see right through you
It's true you walk right through me
It's true I see right through you
