Run down
Position's bending how we think
Walled in distant grieving
Hold out
And put your bet in on something
A different way to gauge this
Fall down
Spent your credit on nothing
Thoughts insist on seeping
Through your protections torn
Hold out
And put your bet in on something
A different way to gauge this
I know
Anticipate
The better days and brace yourself for this load
And know that
There's so much to build on, reform
Remember
You've fallen short for a good reason
Anticipate
The better days and brace yourself for this load
Run down
Position's bending how we think
Walked in distant grieving
Hold out
And out your bet on something
A different way to gauge this
I know
Your body's aching
Footholds are breaking
The dark of night hides
Forgotten bright eyes
Always straining
Performance gauging
Position folds
Anticipate
The better days and brace yourself for this load
And know that
There's so much to build on, reform
Remember

You've fallen short for good reason
Anticipate
The better days and brace yourself for this load
