"In Reach"

take this down and make sure that you remember that what you think what appears is not always the case still you're talking shit all for no reason you try competing with the words i speak i feel the tension you're blown away
i'm taking you down options are still in reach there's no peace in this discomfort don't know why i fell so hard now all your opinions are going sour such strong opinions but not your own... and just when things started going for me i don't need this, still receive it and now you're talking shit and it blows me away don't talk any more and it's making me think more than i want to settle the score what is it for, it sets you back leaves you waiting for something to give
