you found another reason for you to keep on starving it seems to make no difference for you or ur best interest to back urself with these lies in the end theres no truth to defend now you're watching above your shelter cause everyday the best gets closer youve been running, running from this truth too long its coming up now
now another day goes by and you stand there knocking down those who carry you so far now another day you say that its not there you brought it on you can take it

(intrumental)

now another day goes by and you stand there
you brought it on you can take it
