something stronger fans this flame for me it's not for sale solid platform built on unity and it's for real

i'll scream these thoughts
'till my throat is swollen won't bend in
'till this slate is broken listen, i won't defend i won't take upon me the hardest things to see are always in front of me simple lines only speak in context i place myself in your sight's for scrutiny listen, i won't defend i won't take this role not an open door for dishonesty the policy seems fake not a spokesman for your tired scheme to mold youth into place it's clear you'll never know the hardest things to see are on display i won't have your shame dumped on me crowded space is what I'm used to rearrange, i have not use to

state my place, hold my head high make mistakes, at least they'll be mine
