EMMA

WRITER GLENN SHORROCK

Oh pretty Emma you sweet pretender, why don't you stay around. what's your dilemma won't you please tell me Emma, I don't wanna lay you down, sometimes it's hard to bend, turn around you better start all over again. (Please tell me Emma) (Please tell me Emma) Don't get excited you'll be invited, wait for the wheel to turn, don't be impatient you'll get liberated, everybody's got to learn, you have got to make a contribution, then you can start to draw your own conclusion. (Please tell me Emma) (Please tell me Emma) (Please tell me Emma) (Please tell me Emma) Emma, Emma, Emma I'm still waiting. I'm still waiting - Emma. Sometimes it's hard to bend, turn around you'd better start all over again - all over again. (Please tell me Emma) (Please tell me Emma) (Please tell me Emma) (Please tell me Emma) Emma - you'd better start relating (start relating). Oh pretty Emma you sweet pretender, why don't you stay around, what's your dilemma won't you please tell me Emma, I don't wanna lay you down, sometimes it's hard to bend, turn around you'd better start all over again. (Please tell me Emma) (Please tell me Emma)
