LET'S DANCE
WRITER DAVID BRIGGS

Sweet seniorita, sits in the corner on her own, she tries to smile sweetly, *She's comin' on Sit down right here, let me buy you a drink, take a chance, I don't want it obvious if I had said, let's dance. Come on babe, let's dance, why, why don't you dance. Little chiquita, let me whisper in your ear, you know there ain't no lovin' sweeter, I'll say the things you long to hear. Sit down right here, let me buy you a drink, take a chance, I don't want it obvious if I had said, let's dance. Come on, let's dance, why, why, why don't we dance. Ooooh, dancin' in the moonlight, ooooh, everything was goin' so right. Like a little damsel, you got the power over me, my heart is beating faster, are you so blind that you can't see ? Sit down right here, let me buy you a drink, take a chance, I don't want it obvious if I had said, let's dance. *Ah, you better dance, Come on, now, why don't you dance Why, why, why, why don't you dance? ah, you better see me dancin' I'm gonna do it myself I can't help it. No, I can't help it, now why don't you dance.
