SECOND WIND

WRITERS DENNIS LAMBERT, PAM RESWICK, STEVE WERFEL

And I'm starting to feel much better again, I'm starting to get my second wind. I owe you, there's no mistakin', you did the givin', I did the takin', you hung around, you made a difference, I should've known that you, you'd go the distance. Hey baby, I was so alone, like a dog without a bone, and a heart turned to stone, couldn't come back on my own, but ... I'm startin' to feel much better again, I'm startin' to get my second wind, oh yeah, and I'm not gonna worry what might have been, I'm startin' to get my second wind, oh yeah. It's about time, it's all behind me, thought I could hide and the past wouldn't find me, I'm paid up, the worst is over, a little bit wiser, a little bit older. Ooh baby, we're almost home, I was lost but I was never alone, just a few more miles to go, one look at me and you got to know. I'm startin' to feel much better again, I'm startin' to get my second wind, oh yeah, and I'm not gonna worry what might have been, I'm startin' to get my second wind, oh yeah. My second wind, I'm starting to get my second wind, I'm starting, I'm gonna get my, I'm gonna get my second wind, I'm starting, I'm gonna get my, I'm gonna get my second wind. Hey baby, we're almost home, I was lost but I was never alone, just a few more miles to go, one look at me and you got to know, that ... I'm startin' to feel much better again, I'm startin' to get my second wind, oh yeah, and I'm not gonna worry what might have been, I'm startin' to get my second wind, oh yeah. And I'm startin' to get it together again, I'm starting to get my second wind, oh yeah, feel like I'm ready to begin, I'm startin' to get my second wind.
