I was lost, I am found All the buildings are burnt to the ground I can't do no nothing?, not a thing I can't stay, I can't leave Do you see your son down on the street? Is that a gun or just the father that he needs? Do you cry, do you weep? Do you see the world as only tragedy? In the early mornin' there were revelations in my mind I can hear the masters cryin' out from their graves most every night Bring the people together Bring the people together It's a crime, this dark time We wait for presidents who never turn the tide Go to the movies, have Picasso paint your cage I've had enough, I think I'm done I find it hard, I find it strange In the early morning there were revelations in my mind So sell me down the river, I'll be waiting there in love I can hear the masters crying out from the graves most every night Bring the people together Bring the people together, yeah Bring the people together Bring the people together, yeah Bring the people together Can you remember a time, a time, a time? For the sake of these children we leave behind I was lost, I am found I can't stay, I can't leave All the buildings are burnt to the ground Tell me, is this a nation? Is this a tribe? I can't do no nothing?, not a thing Is this the world or just some everyday beehive? We need it now, yeah, we need it quick Listen to lovers, better quit it with this shit...
