"Beautiful Light"

Here I stand, in the middle of this empty stage
Dreaming of some better way
To bring this thought, to bring this song to You
To You, without me

And I play, though the message seems so wrong
As if I don't belong, to this fiction world I am living
This important point I'm missing, it's You
It's You, not me

Perfect melody, take this glory from me
It sounds so heavenly, what You're spinning
How can I sing to a world
When I'm too busy dancing?
Where's my place, will you put me there
And blind me with Your beautiful light?

Who I am, is less significant than it seems
If I could only wait patiently
To feel You move around me,
With my every breath that's screaming of You
Of You, Your name
