The summer's been hot in a wintered heart
Tried to run away from the sound and I ought to know when to stop or to start

Release all the hurt with just one sound and I hope no one's around To call your name out so loud, are you proud?

You got a hold on me
and though I take the chance
I think I'll still be here alone
You got a hold on me
and though I lack the sense to know
I'll still be here alone...

I've got a wall with your name
It's the place I like to blame For all of the things I like to do They're for you..

You got a hold on me
and though I take the chance
I think I'll still be here alone
You got a hold on me
and though I lack the sense to know
I'll still be here alone...
