"Behind My Back"

I feel I'm safe in sayin' you don't love me behind my back you've cheated constantly You're even grievin' now I've seen you run around behind my back right in front of me Don't need the crystal ball to see it's over don't need the ton of bricks to fall on me I know your love is gone the way you carry on behind my back right in front of me

I've searched your face for any signs of feeling But not one else of love is there to see You couldn't love me too and do the things you do behind my back right in front of me
