If you have never gone to where you don't belong come walk in my shoes a while If you don't know the pain of love that's all in vain come
walk in my shoes a while I tried to live in your world and found I don't fit in Instead I've been neglected that's where I've been If you have never seen a world without a dream come walk in my shoes a while [ steel ]
If you have never cried for love that lived and died come walk in my shoes a while If you have never gone to where you can't go on come
walk in my shoes a while
You think my eyes look lonely from cryin' all the time
If they look sad from your side you should see them from mine
If you have never seen the end of everything come
walk in my shoes a while
Come walk in my shoes a while
