Dawn never breaks without breaking my heart
Eternity is not forever just since we're apart
Even in the silence I can hear your voice ring
And I shiver in the coldness that the warm teardrops bring
And I've cried the rain down stare the stars out of sky
Talk the wind under the table since you said goodbye
Though I cry the day is coming when my crying is done
And then I'll show your smiles that will outshine the sun

Each night as I walk down memory lane each step that I take brings a little less pain
I know the lowest end is the turn of the tide
And my sorrows will drown in the tears that I've cried
And I've cried the rain down...
