You there
You might be everything I need from there
You there
Your mouth said everything I needed to hear
I planted my foot in the ditch when you looked
I did what I could but not what it took

You there
I must look like everything I'm not from there
You there
I know it seems better the longer you stare
You stand right here and I'll be back
With just what you want and just what I lack

You there
You can do this better by yourself from there
You there
It just keeps getting farther from here to there
You moved your head from your hand when I looked
We did what we could but not what it took
