

Lloyd Cole & The Commotions

"Rack And Ruin"

Visit "Rack And Ruin" on MotoLyrics.com

I've seen hollowed eyes glistening before me
Empty minds breeding nothing but malice

I won't be run by these machines,
I will become everything you never wanted me to be Something's got a hold of you, I know this now
I know this must be true.

We own the night, sleeping through everyday
Rack and ruin the consequence never ends in our favor

As the cold wind brings a chill, I dream of better days
Is there any other way?
Give me a sign instead of taking what I thought was mine
Was it not enough to strip me dry?

We own the night, sleeping through everyday
Rack and ruin the consequence never ends in our favor

There was a time I thought I would never come back

This was a long ride home from being cast away Without a moment notice blood stopped pumping from my veins
We cease to exist in the eyes of a killer
Welcome home they say, to the valley of the damned

We own the night, sleeping through everyday.
Rack and ruin the consequence never ends in our favor...

Visit Lloyd Cole & The Commotions page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.