

Locust (England) "Your Selfish Ways"

Stabbed in the heart, life's falling apart
Never look back, but I don't want to
Your selfish ways will catch up one day
Never look back
I guess we just went downhill
A shame, but life is cruel
Should have known, we became so silent
I didn't ask, but I wanted to
The connection, barely worth it
I'm confused, and honestly dry
Now I'm asking master questions
It seemed natural at the time
Now my bed is free
Crushed pillows, rolled back sheets
Now the mess is mine
I can do whatever I like
We're banging our heads together
Crossed wires, we do intrude
My hopes and wishes are blasted
You dumb girl, it was never you
I guess we just went downhill
Aware of the fact we clash
No love is ever perfect
We made the effort, and now it's passed
