And now, suddenly I can feel this
I can taste your not wanting me
I can feel your cold look burning a hole in my skin
Without having to see it

My stomach's erupting with violence
My stomach's erupting with violence
And at a time like this it's hard to be silent
It's hard to keep quiet

I am feeling the love pass from my body
I am flushing two years down the toilet
I am feeling the love pass from my body
I am flushing two years down the toilet

This bed is so cold without you in it
This bed is stone cold and silent
And at times like this it's hard to be quiet
At times like this I wish I were violent

All I really wanna do is peel that off the ceiling
It's hard enough to wake up during wintertime
Without having to see it

I never cared much for the gray sky
Never pictured myself alone
For the rest of my life

I need pills with smiling faces
I need pills with smiling faces
'Cuz at a time like this
I just want to take them
And take them and take them

This bed is so cold without you in it
This bed is stone cold and silent
And at times like this I wish I could be quiet
