I see you
standing in my front door its like a boys galore i see your beautiful face looking at me
o its white as paste your staring me down looking at me o and i can't help to blush and say

this is my melody
its wonderful symphony looking at you staring at me is making me so happy cause you love me and want me forever

a few days later i am walking down the street with you laughing and talking without a single blue and you can tell that i love and i can to because
laughing with you is making me so happy

and in know i'll never be alone for 1 split second o cause you love me and i know that you that i know

its a wonderful symphony being with you is making me so happy and without you i would be blue so if you love me then you won't ever leave my side cause you love me and you want me forever o ya
