I never thought that I was good enough
To have the love of a woman like you
But you showed me I was man enough
With just a touch, in a way that only you could do

That's when my whole world started over
You loved the fool right outta me
And honey, would you believe
You still do that to me

'Cause I still hold you in my arms when I dream at night
and girl
I don't wake up in the morning 'til you let me go
And in case I never told you, you were my whole world
Honey, I wrote this song jut so you would know, oh, woah

Do you remember Jacksonville?
'Cause I always will, no matter how hard I try to forget
I said a lot of hateful things that I didn't mean
And have a lifetime left of regret

And that's when my whole world came crashin' down
Like a fool I went and let you leave
And it knocked me to my knees
Yeah, you still do that to me

'Cause I still hold you in my arms when I dream at night
and girl
I don't wake up in the morning 'til you let me go
And in case I never told you, you were my whole world
Honey, I wrote this song jut so you would know
So you would know

Yes, I still hold you in my arms when I dream at night
And girl I don't wake up in the morning 'til you let me go
And in case I never told you, you were my whole world
Honey, I wrote this song jut so you would know

That every time my heart beats
You still do that to me

Yeah honey, every time I breathe
You still do that to me, oh yeah

Every night in my dreams
You still do that to me
Every time I think about you, baby
You still do that to me

I still hold you, I still need you
When I'm sleepin', baby, that's when I see you
I still want you, I still need you
I still love you, you still do that to me
