I never dreamed that it would end this way
Shattered pieces of my broken heart fill this empty room

I close my eyes and try to see your face
As I'm clinging to the fading trace of your perfume

Wish I could make myself believe
Everything that you told me

Someday, someday
I would understand why you said goodbye
Some day, some way
I can let you go and get on with my life
I'm waiting, waiting
To open up my eyes and feel alive
In a better place
It hasn't happened, baby
Maybe someday

You told me it would only take a little time
And I'd get to where I wouldn't think about you anymore
And I should probably hate you for these tears of mine Girl, I tried, but I can't love you any less than I did before

There are days when I can barely breathe
Reliving everything you said to me

Someday, someday
I would understand why you said goodbye
Some day, some way
I can let you go and get on with my life
I'm waiting, waiting
To open up my eyes and feel alive
In a better place
It hasn't happened, baby
Maybe someday

Oh, yeah

Everywhere I look, there's a part of you

Reminding me what could've been, what used to be
Will it ever end, I'm not convinced

Someday, someday
I would understand why you said goodbye
Some day, some way
I can let you go and get on with my life
I'm waiting, waiting
To open up my eyes and feel alive
In a better place
It hasn't happened, baby
Maybe, maybe someday

Ahh, someday
