I met her on a carnaval, on my way out of the crowd, one single hut alone.
I entered, I can't tell you why, p'rhaps all the stars fascinat'd me, or the moon on top of 'em.

Come on, tell me all those little things, all that little things, that should come my way.
Oh, come on, read in the palm of my hand and tell me now what you see.. Oh..

Fortuneteller, speak the words how it's gonna be,
make my fantasies come true, tell me what you see, Fortuneteller, tell me now, is it really true, Fortuneteller, I can't live without you..

The crystal ball illuminated Light flooded the whole room, and the table rocked around,
"Hear me! Hear me as I say this:
you gonna meet your love, some time from now on!"

Bridge Refrain Solo

She had told me all those little things, all that little things, that I should wander through, but if I look back now, I see again, only the love-forecast has become true.. Oh..
