And the same when autumn comes
Cold Air I breathe in my lungs
Something's new but nothing's changed
Familiar feelings just the same
Soon too the warm air comes by Lie back and stare at blue skies
Thinking back away and from
When I'll be here and you'll be gone
Further from me
I think now of summers high
And reminisce on past times gone by Only remembered now in Earth, trees, the stars that have been there
And there forever held
Kept safe but memories never told
But felt if you went by
In never changing sky
And we'll be gone
Further (x14)
God's love will save our light and we'll come shining bright
God's love will save our sun and thy will be done
God's light will save us...
