It's a pity the way I love you, and you ain't worth a dime.
You talk all night in your sleep, baby then you wake up lyin'.

It will take me a while to forget you, but I'll finally get you off my mind.

Your ways is so sweet, but oh, what a rotten mind.
Your face is really beautiful, babe, and your jive is really fine.

That's it â€¦! [spoken words - Dan Dixon]

But to trust you with the truth mama, you know is just a waste of time.

When you first met me you said you loved me, I knew all the time that you was lyin'.

Said you loved me baby, but I couldn't get you off my mind.

You know I 's just a poor little fool, that's why you played me for deaf, dumb, and blind.

Yes, talk to me! [spoken words - Dan Dixon]

When you said you was all mine, I was still too dumb to see.

When you said you was all mine, I was still too dumb to
see.

How could Jones be your brother, when your last name is Julia Lee?

I know you didn't love me baby; it was so plain to see.
Aaaaah, greased 'n lightenin'! [spoken words - Dan
Dixon]

You still lied to me baby, and you made a sap out of po' little me.

You know yourself Jones and Lee, don't sound like sister and brother to me.
