I'm lonesome as I can be, baby please come home to me.

Because you know I love you, and how come we can't agree?

You been gone the whole night long, I b'lieve to my soul something goin' on wrong.

But there will come a day, and I will know you will be glad to stay.

I've tried to please your mind, and you keep me worryin' all the time.

You will either run me crazy, or I'll lose my mind.

You know you don't treat me right, when you stay out both day and night.

And I must stop you now, 'cause you got to consider somehow.

You know I love you now, and I loved you all along.

I'll show you my sweet woman, and I mean you can't go wrong.
