My lips will never speak your name again
You won't see the weakness in my eyes
There's no sign on my face of the hell I've been living in
But tears don't have to fall for you to cry

Chorus:

Tears don't have to fall for you to cry
You can face the bitter truth with the lies
You can hide them in your heart, or in a bottle of pride
No tears don't have to fall for you to cry

I've got scars, but they're in places you can't see
Oh, wounds among the heartaches looked inside
There's not a trace of sadness when you look at me
But tears don't have to fall for you to cry

Chorus

I said tears don't have to fall for you to cry
