let's make a pact officially proclaiming the fact that everyone's officially blaming everyone else if you took your image with the same spark you take to absorbing their torture with equal contempt they're inside you and you're in them neutral ground you'll see you can't attack me you can't affect me
those were the conditions just attack me
the mirror
you service it hungry with two fists the loathing exploding your spite in your own face our conscience has caught us we'll bury it no excuses remain to save us now let's make a pact blaming everyone else
