"When The Stars Turn Black"

The spirit realm has sent back my soul
A dark phantom of the underworld

After the luminance is forever gone
That's when I rise once again
For when the pious light became
From the stars and planets I fell
The apparition spoke my new name
To remember for all eternity
And with this, I draw upon
The darkest divinity

Living only in the blackness
Forever anxious for the doors opening
My blood put into mankind
And man yearns for his history

I've entered the mortal plane again
I cannot feel, all emotion lost
Save for my hatred which drives my lust
To destroy he who died on the cross

As I fell to the Earth's core
Searing heat burning my body
The magma turned my soul to ash

When the stars turn black
Reincarnation I will acquire
Mankind perished by me
The Dark Entity
