"Love's Not Where Love Should Be"

In the past few months all lies have changed we no longer speak each other's name We turned around and love was gone we don't even know what went wrong We've been blinded by time you lived your life and I lived mine
Much too late now we see love's not where love should be [steel]
We worked so hard to build a home I guess we thought that love grew on and on If we had worked this hard on you and me love would be where love supposed to be We've been blinded...
Love's not where love should be
