Well, I got time on my hands, I got you on my mind
And the moon and the stars up above
There's a warm summer breeze blowing down through the trees
And somewhere someone's falling in love

If this world where we live is the only one we have Then there's only one thing I'm thinking of Let's go for that ride, keep your eyes open wide
'Cause somewhere someone's falling in love

You may be looking for someone
And someone may be looking for you
Someday you'll awaken and open your eyes
And love will be looking at you

So don't get down on yourself and don't lose your faith
Believe in these words I'm singing of
For as sure as the day that you were born
Somewhere someone's falling in love

Yeah, you may be looking for someone
And someone may be looking for you
Someday you'll awaken and open your eyes
And love will be looking at you

So don't get down on yourself and don't lose your faith
Believe in these words I'm singing of
For as sure as the day that you were born
Somewhere someone's falling in love

For as sure as the day that you were born
Somewhere someone's falling in
Somewhere someone's falling in
Somewhere someone's falling in love
