Under the skies of old big D
He works a nine to five
Bending steel and driving nails
By phone in a suit and tie

He fights traffic in his Mercedes
To put on his cowboy boots
Then he climbs on board his pick-up truck
And barrels on out of the chute

Dallas days and Fort Worth nights
All day long he sets his sights
On ice cold beer and neon lights

From sky high beams
To bucking machines
He's a single man with a double life
Dallas days and Fort Worth nights

Yeah he's headed honky-tonkin'
To a place they call Cowtown
He's gonna hit the floor hip-hoppin'
Just spinnin' when the sun goes down

He'll buy a drink for a cowgirl
Hopin' to quench her thirst
One that'll take him to heaven
And bring him back down to earth

Dallas days and Fort Worth nights
All day long he sets his sights
On ice cold beer and neon lights

From sky high beams
To bucking machines
He's a single man with a double life
Dallas days and Fort Worth nights

Dallas days and Fort Worth nights
All day long he sets his sights
On ice cold beer and neon lights

From sky high beams
To bucking machines
He's a single man with a double life
Dallas days and Fort Worth nights

All day long he sets his sights
On ice cold beer and neon lights
Dallas days and Fort Worth nights
Dallas days and Fort Worth nights
