Well, I spent half my life out on the highway
Chasin' rodeos through every little town
In an old pickup truck with a little cowboy luck
Well, I never thought I'd ever settle down
Back then I didn't know what I was missin'
Just a runnin' wild and livin' fancy free

I had money in my jeans and my gold buckle dreams
And I swore no woman would ever capture me
But now things have changed and I'm happy
I got a women that I love
And three boys that call me pappy

Got the good Lord up above
I'm in a country that I love
Now what more could a cowboy ever need

Yeah, I had everything I ever wanted
And a woman couldn't fit into my world
'Cause I had broncs to ride and a million miles to drive
And a cowboy just can't have a steady girl
But now things have changed

Got the good Lord up above
I'm in a country that I love
Now what more could a cowboy ever need
