There are roads
In this life that we are travel
There are scars and there are battles
Where we roam
When we are lost
Whenever we may go
There will always lead you home

There are roads
That have lead me to another
To a friend or to a lover
I have known
For every turn
Is a year that I have grown
As I walk along this roads

Some Â...
Some will lead you through a storm
... fin your way...

There where time when I stumbled and I wondered
