"Where We Belong"

I'll take these storms away, start a brand new story,
I'll make it through each day singing death or glory,
Lord won't answer me, I won't let it bring me down.

And all these times are grey, that I'm living under,
I know I'll be OK with the rain or thunder,
I hear it calling me, I will march into the sound.

I just get the feeling, you're holding me down,
And these answers are needed,
I guess they're being smothered by the sounds,
Of all this emotion, and all of this hate,
Still I keep searching for something to put my faith in,
To find my place so I keep singing

I'll take these storms away, start a brand new story,
I'll make it through each day singing death or glory,
Lord won't answer me, I won't let it bring me down.

Hold on, hold on
We'll move along.

Where we belong,
Where we belong,
My heart, my soul.

I don't need a vision, light to embrace,
And I don't need false promises, hopes and wishes,
To find my place so I keep singing

I'll take these storms away, start a brand new story,
I'll make it through each day singing death or glory,
Lord won't answer me, I won't let it bring me down.

Hold on, hold on
We'll move along.

Where we belong,
Where we belong,
My heart, my song.
We still belong.

Where we belong,
Where we belong,
My heart, my song.
We still belong.

Hold on, hold on,
Where we belong,
My heart, my soul.
We still belong.

Hold on, hold on,
Where we belong,
My heart, my soul.
We still belong.

Hold on, hold on,
Where we belong,
My heart, my soul.

Where we belong,
Where we belong,
My heart, my soul.
We still belong.

I'll take these storms away, (Where we belong)
Start a brand new story,
I'll make it through each day, (Where we belong)
Singing death or glory,
Lord won't answer me, (My heart, my soul)
I won't let it bring me down.
