Cold red sunsets that freeze the rainbows out
Standing here in the rain
Oh, I've been thinking how, how much happier
I have been since you came

Staring down at the sidewalk shining the Satin winds floating down
Change the crystals on ladies faces
I think, I'll stick around

Laden gutters are pouring over they
Hit the streets and explode
Young girls laughing and make up streaming
Go running down the road

Oh, I've been thinking and too much drinking
And things, I just don't dare to say
It's still raining but who's complaining
It's just one of those days

It's still raining but who's complaining
It's just one of those days
