All my life I've been pretending
That I'm stronger on my own
Now this night is neverending
I dont want to be alone

I see the light
I touch the sky
I hear the choirs in my mind
I feel alive
I shed the tears
Across the years
Too many times
I've been the part
Thats left behind
Back when the world was turning
I was drifting on my own
Now there's a fire burning
I don't want to be alone

For all the laughter that we knew
For all the love inside my soul that feel so true
For all the roads that I could choose
My heart will wait for you
For all the laughter that we knew
For all the love inside my soul that feel so true
For all the roads that I could choose
My heart will wait for you

This is the love that grows
These are the dreams that all come true
Patience won't break my soul
My heart will wait for you

This is the love that grows
These are the dreams that all come true
Patience won't break my soul
My heart will wait for you

This is the love that grows
These are the dreams that all come true
Patience won't break my soul

My heart will wait for you
