Broken hearts and torn up letters

Girl you just can't dance forever

If you want to make it better...

Her hands are in her pockets

And she's scared to look

The picture's frozen

And she's closed the book

Jealousy has only got one friend

And Joey's heart was never meant to mend

Walking faster now she holds him close

The timing matters just to take the dose

Empty pockets tell the stories..

And there's no destiny when everyone's your enemy

Take your jealous heart and cast it into stone

You'll regret it all

Living behind your wall

And you'll never fall in love

If you don't fall in love

Broken hearts and torn up letters

Girl you just can't dance forever

If you want to make it better...

The nights are getting darker
And the wind is cold
The summer sun
Has now become so old
Her closest friends
Were never meant to fade
With all these dreams
That didn't make the grade
Close the doors but never look inside
Time will tell if all your love has died
Empty pockets tell the stories...
And there's no destiny when everyone's your enemy
Take your jealous heart and cast it into stone
You'll regret it all
Living behind your wall
And you'll never fall in love
If you don't risk it all
Broken hearts and torn up letters
Girl you just can't dance forever
If you want to make it better
Broken hearts and torn up letters
Girl you just can't dance forever
If you want to make it better
Times like these won't last forever...
Close the doors but never look inside

Time will tell if all your love has died
Empty pockets tell the stories...
And there's no destiny when everyone's your enemy
Take your jealous heart and cast it into stone
You'll regret it all
Living behind your wall
And you'll never fall in love
If you don't fall in love
You'll regret it all
(Broken hearts and torn up letters)
Living behind your wall
(Girl you just can't dance forever)
And you'll never fall in love if you don't risk it all
(If you want to make it better...)

If you want to make it better
Times like these won't last forever...
