"Every Song"

And through this place I feel,
That things are changing,
You'll always have my time,
For the plans you're making

And though the weight is on my shoulders,
I'll carry you alone,
And though our time is getting shorter,
I'll sing you every song,
I'll sing you every song,
Sing you every song

Still watching all your movements,
Still hoping for your time,
Still making plans for someone,
Still hoping you are mine

And though the weight is on my shoulders,
I'll carry you alone,
And though our time is getting shorter,
I'll sing you every song (sing you every song),
Sing you every song (sing you every song),
Sing you every song

And every grass is for you,
And every light is for you,
And every fall is for you,
And every one is...

I'll sing you every song (sing you every song),
Sing you every song (sing you every song),
Sing you every song,
Sing you every song,
Sing you every song,
Sing you every song,
Sing you every song,
And every song
(And every song, and every song)
