A dark place in the light of this city.
I know this feeling I keep buried inside,
Won't retreat or delete,
It ends tonight.
The dull pain that remains isn't pretty.
I'm being smothered in the flames I ignite.
Oh my city is burning tonight.

So how's it gonna feel when I leave this town,
Broke and burning with the memories that we once
found.
I'm out of time and
I'm out of place and
I left a love that I can't replace.

To find home.
Yet everytime I'm left with nothing.
Nothings all I need.
To find home.
Another time, there's always something.
To find home.
But never inside me.

My chest tightens.
It brightens the light of the stars,
Revealing our scars.
All the times that where ours.
On the run with nothing But an appetite for lust and seduction.
I won't start again with the feelings.
I know what I need and it's so unappealing.
I sink below, let me go.
I need to find my way back to what I know.

So how's it gonna feel when I leave this town,
Broke and burning with the memories that we once
found.
I'm out of time and
I'm out of place and
I left a love that I can't replace.

To find home.

Yet everytime I'm left with nothing.
Nothings all I need.
To find home.
Another time, there's always something.
To find home.
But never inside me.

So how's it gonna feel when I leave this town,
Broke and burning with the memories that we once
found.
So how's it gonna feel when I leave this town.
How's it gonna feel, how's it gonna feel,
When I leave.
How's it gonna gonna feel when I leave this.
So how's it gonna feel,
To find home.
Yet everytime I'm left with nothing.
Nothings all I need.
To find home.

So how's it gonna feel when I leave this town.
How's it gonna feel when I leave this town.
How's it gonna feel when I leave this town.
How's it gonna fel when I leave this town
How's it gonna feel hows it gonna feel
When I leave, when I leave
When I leave, when I leave
When I leave, when I leave
When I leave, when I leave
When I leave this town.
