As voices of the night call me
I walk into the eternal flame I feel it burning me from inside no longer wishing, forever be alive

Wandering alone within walls of madness searching for forgiveness in lifeless emptiness since the day I was taken my first breath I have been forgotten and lost on a cold path

Abandoned in the never allowed desire the only thing to whisper me goodbye inside my mind
I'm surrounded by ignorance and hate from the chambers of fears and rage

I cannot except the unending reality
I must end my life, away from eternity there no spirits will guide me not enslaved by darkened skies

In a time of endless creams I see myself wither/fading
I feel so small, lost and frozen/dying wander across the fields of tranquillity forever I will be chased by insanity I gaze into the flames of my destiny twisting and turning towards my journey

All love lost, desolation will not forget me over the sky I will follow the light I am gone and that I will not regret the hour of strange floating lights the never allowed land now embrace me the world beyond has forgiven me but not forget me
