She came shortly after I was born
Now I can't go in the rooms I used to own
My world is full of strangers and I spend the day in chains
I just want to go outside and run around
Help me, I'm burning, I'm burning
Help me break a window
For the lonely days, white fur hat, little red coat
Sleep in the big bed like a king
Sunlight through the window on my shiny brown head
And love behind my ears and on my back
On my back
Lay my head down and try to forget her
I was just somewhere else but now I find myself here

Help me, I'm burning, I'm burning
Help me break a window
Help me crack the door open
Help me, I'm burning inside
Think about leaving, think about running away
Beyond the backyard, beyond the highway
Someone who'll kiss my face, let me sleep inside
Do you think I'll get there, do you think I'll make it
Do you think I'll make it
Help me, I'm burning, I'm burning
Help me break a window
Help me crack the door open
Help me, I'm burning inside
