

Lou Gramm

"Warmest Rising Sun"

Visit "Warmest Rising Sun" on MotoLyrics.com

The way she moves alone, so late at night
The woman knows, she's a mystery
And she's mine tonight
That's all I want to know

What would I do without her?
Who would I be alone?
You see I love everything about her
And I'd never ever let her go

The wind blows cold tonight
I'm counting stars one by one
Holding her so close tonight
And I know she is my warmest rising sun

Now I'm searching out her secret dreams
I wonder if she knows what her love means

What would I do without her?
Who would I be alone?
You see I love everything about her
And I'd never ever let her go

The wind blows cold tonight
I'm counting stars one by one
Holding her so close tonight
And I know she is my warmest rising sun

Visit Lou Gramm page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.