

Lou Reed

"Wave Of Fear"

Visit "Wave Of Fear" on MotoLyrics.com

i wish I was the warrior king in every language that I speak Lord over all that I survey and all I see I keep Power omnipresent undiminished uncontrolled with a massive violent fury at the centre of my soul I wish I was a warrior king inscrutable benign with a faceless charging power always at my command Footsteps so heavy the world shakes
My rage instilling fear Yet cautious firm but fair and good
The perfect Warrior King
I wish I installed angels in every subject's house Agents of my goodness no one would be without A steak on every plate a car for every house
And if you ever crossed me I'd have your eyes put out
You don't exist without me you don't exist
And if logic won't convince you then there's always this I'm bigger, smarter, stronger, tough yet sensitive and kind And though I could crush you like a bug it would never cross my mind It wouldn't cross my mind to break your neck or rip out your vicious tongue It wouldn't cross my mind to snap your leg like a twig or squash you like some slug You are a violent messenger and I'm not above your taunts And if you hit me you know I'll kill you because I'm the Warrior King

Visit Lou Reed page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.