"Blackness, Blackness"

Wildness, wildness
Like a teenager's eyes
Could heart-struck
Mean that you would be
This careless
With one that's in your hands
Oh baby I guess I just am
Oh baby I guess I just am

Kindness, kindness
You know it suited you
Like sunshine carried
All around with you
How could you be
This glad it's turned to sham
Oh baby I guess I just am
Oh baby I guess I just am

At any given waking hour
I can in some way
Stand to see a living thing freeze
But when I'm trying to sleep there's ardor
I can't quite explain
And all that it can say is please

Blackness, blackness
Don't you know it hurts
The loudest sound is
Hands on the backs of shirts
Can you be
So sure your wrong will stand
Oh baby I guess I just am
Oh baby I guess I just am

Wildness, wildness
Kindness, kindness
Blackness, blackness
