"Slick Dogs and Ponies"

you surround yourself with people that you know you just dont know.
they pay more attention to press than soul.
when i hear your voice it almost makes me crawl out numb.
thats when i know im still alive.

i know that you want to know it all.
but you hope that no one notices you dont.

sometimes its hard to separate all the fakes and all the phonies.
the slick dogs from all the ponies.
if you see me in the middle of the room and i just cant seem to smile.
know im just somewhere else for a while.

surround yourself with people that you know you just dont know.
they pay more attention to press than soul.
and all the time i just sit and fill just getting by.
reminds me im just here wasting time.

but you hope that no one notices you dont.
(i just went to tell them to fuck off)
