

Louis Xiv

"Thief In The Choir"

Visit "Thief In The Choir" on MotoLyrics.com

sometimes i see the truth behind your lies which one's
the real side of you

there's a song
reminds me of when we were just friends right when it starts
it ends

you were starin' at yourself in the picture
on the shelf
we were there
now we're gone
we were there, now we're gone

there's a thief in the choir
says that i'm a liar
while he steals the spotlight
i take the blame

there's a thief in the choir
one that i admire
as he steals the spotlight
i'll take the blame

so much to hear
so sure to die
so much to love

in the fall
i watch the leaves turn red and brown they fall down
i'm alone

of the times
i see the tears where i look in your eyes
they fall down
i'm alone

you took your sweater off and gave it to me
and i said i liked you too
it was there
now it's gone
it was there, now it's gone

there's a thief in the choir
says that i'm a liar
while he steals the spotlight
i take the blame

there's a thief in the choir
one that i admire
as he steals the spotlight
i'll take the blame

so much to hear
so sure to die
so much to love

through the calm
i waited for the storm and all through the night
you feel so right

there's a thief in the choir
says that i'm a liar
while he steals the spotlight
i take the blame

there's a thief in the choir
one that i admire
as he steals the spotlight
i'll take the blame

so much to hear
so sure to die
so much to love

Visit Louis Xiv page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.