I've had it all, as a little child
I've done it all, as a little child
But the pain that I have
For the fame that I got, was for what

A little girl is crying alone
A little boy, searching for his home
Even after I've sinned for a heart-craving dream
Is that a sin

If you really love the love you say
You'll love with a love
Then surely that love would love
Then surely that love would love to love you back

If you really love the love you say
You'll love with a love
Then surely that love would love
Then surely that love will love you back
Will love you back

For just one moment, we all wanna be
Just as happy as one can be
(So don't you make the same mistake)
(You'd better give from what you take)
And don't you break

A little girl or boy crying at home alone
That faithful song will lead the way
To make you strong

If you really love the love you say
You'll love with a love
Then surely that love would love
Then surely that love would love to love you back

If you really love the love you say
You'll love with a love
Then surely that love would love
Then surely that love will love you back

If you really love

If you really love the love you say
You'll love with a love
Then surely that love would love
Then surely that love would love to love you back

If you really love the love you say
You'll love with a love
Then surely that love would love
Then surely that love
Then surely that love
Then surely that love will love you back
Will love you back
