

Love And Money "Inflammable"

Visit "Inflammable" on MotoLyrics.com

Inflammable

I can see you with your soul in your eyes

About to catch fire

And I want to cool you down

But words just slip away from me

Untouchable

I know you only seem that way

But you push me to the edge

And you push me back again

Closing doors and spawning dreams

When I had enough of them

What the daylight scorns

The night embraces

And I go looking for what I

Want in the wrong places

Unfathomable

It seems that all I really ever do

Is wait around in queues

For things that I don't really want

That don't do me no good

Inflammable

You could say that it's my hope that burns

I suppose I'll never learn

But ever since I saw your face

I've been past the point of no return

Looking for a better place

What the daylight scorns

The night embraces

And I go looking for what I

Want in the wrong places

I recognise in you a part of myself

I want to hide inside you, be guided by you

This storm won't blow over, till we can be together

Till we can be lovers

Inflammable

Burn me with your love

Visit Love And Money page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

