You didnt care what anyone else would think you were always there, the purest water to drink lift me up and kiss me like you always meant it i am free you release me for the first time and you open up and let me in your love enough to wash my sin you look at me, theres no one else around that i can see, the beauty i have found
